

GYPSY LOG

Property of Pocahontas County
Historical Society

1933

If, on the open road ahead we return to this log for moments of reflection;
If, on the open road our four years of delightful carping in this happy vale give us renewed delight and inspiration;
We, the staff, shall feel rewarded for our endeavors to make this log a memory of the highlights of our Senior year.

ADIEU, OLD EDRAY HIGH
Frances Brill

We hap y Seniors here have come
To think of victories lost and won
Of hours that only seem but few
Now we must say "Adieu",
Our minds go back to friends we've made
Their smiles, their willing friendly aid
But now to them we too must say
We're glad we came your way,
B ut we must hurry on to our destination;
For though we'd sing a song;
We cannot tarry long, but be gone,
And leave the hall we loved so well
But all its memories dear will dwell
Within our hearts, they'll never die
Adieu, old Edray High.

ALL HAIL EDRAY DISTRICT

All Hail Edray District,
Thy cherish name we sing
All Hail Edray District
With love our voices ring.
Thy spirit ole High School
In every heart beats high,
Live on Edray District
Thy name never shall die.

Co-ed (visiting the mess hall for the first time)--
Oh! I'm dying to taste some of that "track meat"
I've heard so much about.

"An instinct is something which is born in us and makes cats to run after mice, etc."

"The King shall drink to Hamlet's better breath; and in the cup an onion shall be throw."

Theodore Roosevelt must have been a very brave man, or he would not be remembered for his midnight ride as he is.

Franklin invented many useful things that seemed simple, but no one had ever thought of before. Among his inventions were the common ordinary stove and lightning.

"Lanier and Poe can be compared as being best poets Poe was the best and Lanier, with the exception of Poe, was the best, so both are considered very good."

"Life's Milestones" ——— Lorna Smith

"OUTDOORS"
by Joyce Kilmer

The road is wide and the stars are out
And the breath of the night is sweet
This is the time when the wanderlust
Should seize upon our feet.
But I'm glad to turn from the open road
And the starlight on my face;
To leave the splendor of out-of-doors
For a human dwelling place.

They say that life is a highway
And the milestones are the years
And there's now and then a toll-gate
Where you buy your way with tears.
It's a rough road and a steep road
And it stretches broad and fair
But at last it leads to a golden town
Where golden houses are.

We have arrived tonight at one of Life's Milestones which calls us to pause and look. As we view the school-days past, we recall with pleasure the delightful companionship with faculty and fellow students. We will confess that we have not always put our best foot forward and through it all has run the thread of youthful buoyancy, and out of it all we sincerely hope shall have been moulded the spirit of light-heartedness that may stand us in good stead along the road of Life.

From this milestone we are impelled to attempt to pierce the veil of the future. For most of us it will be necessary to face the stern realities of life without further academic preparation. However, we anticipate that the road will be smoother, and the hills more easily climbed, and the valleys more beautiful because of our having been here.

Training and education have been the most important factors in our lives so far. In the future, if we shall achieve distinction, it must be through our own self-reliance.

The future will have many milestones to mark our progress, each one with its choice of new highways to tread. When these new avenues, with their tempting vistas, open before us, we shall be grateful to our instructors who have inspired us to live up to the noblest that is within us; we shall look back with sincere appreciation upon the sacrificial spirit of our parents and friends who have made it possible for us to prepare ourselves to meet each new opportunity serenely and with some measure of confidence.

We shall be conscious that back of all life there are these fundamental truths, some of them taken lightly or vaguely understood here, which shall determine our success or failure on Life's Highway.

"Serious thoughts," you say, "for a youth?" Yes, but we are standing at the gateway of the open road, and we welcome you as witnesses of our glorious beginnings. It is a joyous occasion, for it presents some of our Class achievements; but there is a tinge of sadness in the thought that we meet together for almost the last time.

Nevertheless, a hearty welcome to all !

GOUROKA: (Looking off in the distance to right) Who is this crestfallen youth who draws near on reluctant feet? There is something vaguely familiar in his bearing. Ah -- the light strikes him now. 'Tis my son, Faidla. Faidla, my boy ! Welcome home to your kin ! My son, what has become of your joyous laugh and your happy smiles? Didst think we would not welcome you?

FAIDLA: 'Tis a long story, my Father, and an unhappy one. For all the weary months since I left you I have been searching for Mourna. It was never any secret that I loved her, and she loved me until this stranger stole her heart away. For days after they left, I followed them looking to learn if she had found the joy she sought, but I never let her know I was near. Her mate was good to her and she made friends in her new tribe. Then when the Spring began to make itself known in the glades and the glen, her mate felt the call the open road and left with the other young men to prepare a summer camp. A few days later news came back that he had been killed by a falling tree. I was not there when the news came, and when I returned Mourna had slipped away. For long nights and weary days I searched for some trace of her but all I could learn was that she seemed to be coming this way. When I heard your singing from the hill, I thought it might be in rejoicing at her return, but I see it is not. My comrades here, you who are happy with your sweethearts at your side, will you not sing with me a song to my gypsy sweetheart who wanders alone and fearful in the dark night? Perhaps some kind star, or the gentle breeze will carry the song to her and she will know that I have been searching for her and shall never be happy till she is found.

Commencement time is now approaching and neither are we sorry because we all realize that we must part sooner or later. Father Sun must devote his time to the class taking our place.

Al You speak so well, Martie, that I almost feel that I have not been away. I know then I saw the campfires glowing from a distance, that mystic haze around the moon, and the Dipper just full of tricky secrets, that Gazelle would tell fortunes tonight. You will, won't you, Gazelle?

CLASS PROPHECY

MOORMAN: Has no one been writing poetry while I have been away? Drula, I see by the gleam of your sparkling eyes that you have been up to your old pranks. Come, let us have them!

CLASS POEMS

Farewell
Susan Dilley

We are the seniors of thirty three
We mark the end of one more fleet
We leave our place to other nes
Our work, our griefs, our joys, our fun
To make a reputation great.

We will be gone and they will take
Our fight we've bravely tried to make
Our time is up and we are done
In dear Old Edray High.

Take up our fight where We've left off
Hold character and ideals both aloft
The spirit of love to leave to thee
The gift of fame grow from a seed
So likewise does our lasting love
For good old Edray High.

...ll then dear old Edray High
...ll to teachers all so good
...ll to classmates brave and true
Another life we start anew.

THE CLASS OF '33
Opal Shinabery

Commencement time is here again,
And so, the fifty-eight
Are found upon the stage of time
To go, or just to wait.
Until success should come our way,
Ah, we have taught to say
But he who waits and does not work
May wait for many a day.

If one should ask, "What have you done,
This class of thirty-three?"
We'od probably say with greatest pride,
"We've won some victories
At least we've helped to win them all
Since in Edray High we've been,
Although the ice it often times
Seems very very thin."

In Basketball, Football, and track;
In literary too;
In work, in play, or anything
You've found us always true--
And always in on everything
That was good for our old school
In all our work for every day,
We've used the best of tools.

"Our sponsor true is one we've had
In other classes too,
In English one and three, and four,
And some had French and Phys
The other teachers that we've had,
Ah, we think they are grand-
But then, when we a score made,
Was that really our stand?"

In years to come and we have gone
Into some work in life,
We shall look back to Edray High,
And that with not a strife,
We'll look with pride to our old school
Until we turn to dust;
But what that I would like to know,
Will she be proud of us?

George Clark wills his clock to Jane Kincaid in hopes she may have better success in getting to school on time.

Frances Brill wills her place at the piano to Su

Virginia Crockett wills her attractive brown eyes to Kyle McCarty.

Mrs Darnell wills her love of tall men to Ruby Sharp.

Helen Dilley wills her recipe for dating to Madaline McNeill.

Midge Dilley wills her French harp to Jim McNeill.

Ralph Dilley wills his puckish tendencies to Dus Eskridge in hopes he'll like Shakespeare.

Susan Dilley wills her writings to Ross Scott suggesting that he perfect them by adding his touch of romance.

Mabel Duncan wills her blushes to Opal Baxter.

Kathleen Faulkner wills her strict diet to Joan Landis wishing her much success in her use of it.

Dale Fortig wills his statement that "women are weaker than men physically, mentally, and morally" to Jacob Webster in hopes he can prove it.

Alice Fortune wills her position as cheer leader to Herman McFarrin.

Mary Elizabeth Gatewood wills her empty treasury to Bessie Hill to be refilled next year.

Helen Gay wills her arts of playing pranks and getting by with them to Manual McNeill.

Elsie Gohauf wills her Home Ec. Apron to Hallie Adkison because it will fit.

Virginia Herald wills her quiet, retiring disposition to Hester McClintic.

Myrtle Hylton wills her poor English to Lee Simms so Miss Collins will have someone to correct next year.

Margie King wills her plain speech to Peggy Smith.

Helen Lightner wills her Latin pony to anyone who can find it.

Percy Long wills his latest book, "Know Less About Nothing" to Basil Sharp.

James McGraw wills his grin and freckles to Edward Bost.

Dacima McLaughlin wills her Chemistry apron to Pearl Cochran and warns her not to burn holes in it.

Nancy McNeill wills her hiking boots to Pearl Auldridge.

Clarence Michael wills his liking for checker games to his brother Jim.

Bernice Miller wills her red coat to Opal Baxter so they won't get 'em mixed any more.

Curtis Moore wills his love for all athletics to Hunter Grubbs.

Glen Moore wills his blushes to Harry Lassiter.

Bill Overholt wills his perpetual grin to Sam Pollock.

Norval Piper wills his kingfish "Uh-huh" to Earl Overholt.

Gypsy, come away!
Back to the road again, again!
Out of the clean sun track!
Follow the cross of the gypsy trail,
Over the world and back!

Follow the Romany patteran
West to the sinking sun,
Till the junk-sails lift through the homeless drift
And the East and the West are one.
Follow the Romany patteran
East thro' the silence broods--
By a purple wave on an opal beach
In the hush of the Mahim woods.

The wild hawk to the winds wept sky,
The deer to the wholesome wold--
And the heart of a man to the heart of a maid
As it was in the days of old;
The heart of a man to the heart of a maid
Light of my tents be fleet.
Morning wafts at the end of the world
And the world is all at our feet.

The Sophomores had lots of fun initiating the verdant freshmen and enjoy the Basketball Season by winning the bowling trophy.

Seventy-six of those new students settled down to their work under a well known sponsor, Miss Virginia Holt. Their class officers are:

President----------John Cochran
Vice-President----------Mary Moore
Secretary----------Sue Brill
----------Jane Price
----------Mary Virginia Cunningham
Guy Buckman

The initiation was not so bad and they were busy the whole year. They gave two plays,"Current Event," and "Meeting Play" in Chapel. They were in charge of a special service in which a tree was dedicated to the Mothers of Murray District High School.

And were they proud, when the boys took first in basketball Tournament and the girls second place!

MARLINTON — Marlinton, a Class A giant, salvaged an 8-8 tie with double-A Sophia Friday night to open the season.

Terry Bennett ran 87 yards after recovering a fumble for coach Elmer Friel's Copperheads in the first quarter. On a fake kick play, Joe White passed to Roger Sharp for two points.

Marlinton fought off Sophia until the third quarter when Jim Lavender scored on a two-yard run. Billy Sellers' pass to Kenny Powers knotted the hard-hitting contest.

With David Cain leading the way, Marlinton gained 172 yards rushing. Bucky Barbe complet-

There are any number of high school coaches who could win the "Coach of the Year" award. High school coaches are all "coaches of the year" to their players, but fellows like Mickey McDade of Charleston Catholic, Roy Williams of East Bank and Willie Akers of Logan might be the favorites to cop this honor.

Ken Wheeler of Beckley did a fine job in football, too. He was a grid spoiler as he knocked Logan, Bluefield, Parkersburg out of Class AAA play-offs.

SUMMERSVILLE — Pocahon
tas County got good mileage ou of two big plays and they wer enough to give the Warriors a 12-victory over the Nicholas Count
Grizzlies here Friday night.

Running back Brett Wither gave the Warriors all they neede with an 86-yard scamper in th first quarter and a 91-yard rom with just 1:04 remaining in th first half to seal the triumph fo
the visitors.

Withers scored on similar play
as he took a pitchout and scam pered through the Nicholas de fense.
